

Do You Need Money for College or Career School?

July 2022

Apply for Federal Student Aid

What is federal student aid?

It's money from the federal government that helps you pay for college, career school, or graduate school expenses. Federal student aid is available through grants, work-study funds, and loans.

How do I apply for aid?

You need to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA®) form by logging in at fafsa.gov to apply online or completing and mailing the FAFSA® PDF.

Students and parents will need an FSA ID (account username and password) to sign the FAFSA form electronically. You'll also use your FSA ID to access information about your financial aid on various U.S. Department of Education websites. You can create an FSA ID in advance or while you fill out the FAFSA® form. To find out more about the FSA ID, visit StudentAid.gov/help-center/answers/article/fsa-id.

When should I apply?

Each October, the FAFSA® form is available for the next school year. You'll need to reapply for aid every year you are in school. Here's a summary of key dates for submitting the FAFSA® form depending on when you plan to go to school:

2 Federal Work-Study: Money is earned through a job and doesn't have to be repaid

- ✓ your level of financial need, and
- ✓ your school's funding level.

For Federal Work-Study program details and updates, visit StudentAid.gov/workstudy.

3 Federal Student Loans: These are loans that accumulate interest; they must be repaid.

Who is it for?

Direct Subsidized Loan

For undergraduate students who have financial need. A student must be enrolled at least half-time.

Direct Unsubsidized Loan

For undergraduate and graduate or professional students. A student must be enrolled at least half-time. Financial need is not required.

Direct PLUS Loans

For parents of dependent undergraduate students and for graduate or professional students. A student must be enrolled at least half-time. Financial need is not required.

What is the maximum annual loan amount?

Direct Subsidized Loan

Up to $5,500, depending on grade level.

Direct Unsubsidized Loan

For undergraduate students, up to $12,500 (less any subsidized amounts received for the same period), depending on grade level and dependency status. For graduate or professional students, up to $20,500.

Direct PLUS Loans

Maximum amount is the cost of attendance minus any other financial aid received.

What is the interest rate?

Direct Subsidized Loan

Direct Subsidized Loans made to undergraduate students during the 2022–23 award year have a fixed interest rate of 4.99% for the life of the loan.

Direct Unsubsidized Loan

Direct Unsubsidized Loans made to undergraduate students during the 2022–23 award year have a fixed interest rate of 4.99% for the life of the loan.

Interest rates for Direct Loans are determined each year. When the rates are determined, they apply to all loans that have a first disbursement date during the period beginning on July 1 of one year and ending on June 30 of the following year. Loans received during different award years may have different fixed interest rates. For more information on interest rates, visit StudentAid.gov/interest.

Where do I go for more details and updates on loans?

Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized Loans

StudentAid.gov/sub-unsub

Direct PLUS Loans

StudentAid.gov/plus

Don't let your interest capitalize!

If you have unsubsidized or PLUS loans, then interest accumulates on these loans before you begin repayment (e.g., while you are in school). Consider paying interest on your federal student loans while you're in school, and during grace, deferment, and forbearance periods to avoid capitalization (the addition of unpaid interest to the principal balance of your loan). Capitalization increases your loan principal, and interest will then accrue on that higher principal amount.

Ready to fill out the FAFSA® form?
Go to fafsa.gov!

I completed the FAFSA® form. Now what?

After you submit your FAFSA® form, you'll receive a Student Aid Report (SAR) that summarizes the data you submitted. If you provided a valid email address in your application, you'll receive an email with instructions on how to access an online copy of your SAR within three days (if you apply at fafsa.gov) or three weeks (if you mail in a paper FAFSA® form).

When you receive your SAR, review it to make sure you didn't make any mistakes on your FAFSA® form.

- If you don't need to make any changes to the information on your SAR, just keep it for your records.
- To find out how to correct mistakes or make updates to your FAFSA® form, visit StudentAid.gov/apply-for-aid/fafsa/review-and-correct or contact the school to which you are applying.

The information in your SAR will be provided to the schools you listed on your FAFSA® form. You will receive an aid offer from the schools at which you were applied and/or accepted for admission.

Do I have to repay my loans?

Yes. Student loans, unlike grants and work-study funds, are borrowed money that must be repaid, with interest, just like car loans and home mortgages. You cannot have these loans canceled because you didn't like the education you received, didn't get a job in your field of study, or are having financial difficulty. So think about the amount you'll have to repay before you take out a loan and only borrow the amount you need. Learn more about loan repayment at StudentAid.gov/repay.

What's an aid offer and how much aid will I get?

If you applied for admission to a college or career school you listed on your FAFSA® form, that school will get your FAFSA® information. The school will calculate your aid and send you an aid offer (often electronically).

Most schools will wait to send you an aid offer only after they accept you for admission. The aid offer will tell you how much aid you're eligible to receive at that school and will include the types and amounts of financial aid you may receive from federal, state, private, and school sources. This combination of help from different sources is your financial aid package. How much aid you receive depends on some factors, including

- cost of attendance (for each school);
- Expected Family Contribution (EFC)—the EFC does not represent a dollar amount but, instead, it's a number used to calculate how much and types of financial aid you're eligible to receive based on your FAFSA® information;
- year in school; and
- enrollment status (e.g., full-time, half-time, etc.).

You can compare school aid offers and see which school is most affordable once financial aid is taken into account. Contact the school's financial aid office if you have any questions about the aid being offered to you. For more information on how aid is calculated, visit StudentAid.gov/how-calculated.

How will I receive my aid?

Your college or career school—not the U.S. Department of Education—will distribute your aid. In most cases, your federal student aid will be applied directly to your school account. The financial aid staff at your school will explain exactly how and when your aid will be disbursed (paid out).
