

FACT SHEET: School Closure

Harris School of Business located in Pennsylvania

On June, 26, 2020, the Harris School of Business (HSB) lost its eligibility to participate in the federal student aid programs because it failed to provide the U.S. Department of Education (ED) required documentation following HSB's change in ownership. Additionally, HSB announced several unscheduled breaks starting in fall 2020, and the institution did not offer instruction after announcing the unscheduled breaks. ED has determined HSB last offered educational instruction at its Philadelphia location on Sept. 25, 2020, and Upper Darby location on Oct. 23, 2020; these dates serve as the official closure dates for purposes of the federal student aid programs.

This fact sheet provides important information about your options now that your school has closed, including:

- obtaining your academic transcripts;
- understanding if your state offers a tuition recovery fund;
- determining if you qualify for a discharge of your student loan(s);
- knowing the steps in the loan discharge process;
- transferring your credits to another school; and
- contacting your loan servicer.

We encourage you to avoid paying for services that Federal Student Aid offers for free.

Obtaining your academic transcripts

Students may obtain transcripts by emailing a request to transcripts@trigramschools.com. Students may also contact the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Department of Education State Board of Private Licensed Schools to get the most updated information about how to obtain a copy of their transcript.

If you transfer to another school to continue your education, you may be asked to provide a copy of these records to your new school. The records also may be useful in substantiating your claim for a closed school loan discharge.

Does your state administer a tuition recovery fund?

Some states provide funds that generally reimburse charges not covered by other sources. For example, a closed school loan discharge would cover the amount of your federal student loans, while tuition recovery fund payments could cover expenses, such as private loans and cash payments that were directed toward tuition payments at the closed school. Contact the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Department of Education State Board of Private Licensed Schools for more information and applicable eligibility criteria.

Do you qualify for a closed school loan discharge?

ED officials have verified that HSB's last full days of educational instruction were Sept. 25, 2020, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and Oct. 23, 2020, in Upper Darby, Pennsylvania. These dates will be used to determine potential eligibility for closed school loan discharge.

There are certain criteria for a closed school loan discharge, and there are certain steps you need to take to apply for a student loan discharge.

Student loan borrowers (and parents who borrowed PLUS loans on behalf of students) may be eligible for a 100% discharge of your federal student loans borrowed to attend HSB under either of these circumstances:

- HSB ceased offering instruction while you were enrolled, and you did not complete your program because it ceased offering instruction. If you were on an approved leave of absence from HSB for purposes of the federal student aid programs, you are considered to have been enrolled at the school, or
- You withdrew from all classes (without completing your program) on or after May 28, 2020, at the Philadelphia location or June 25, 2020 at the Upper Darby location.

You are not eligible for discharge of your loans if your school closed and any of the following is true:

- You withdrew from all classes on or before May 27, 2020, at the Philadelphia location or June 24, 2020, at the Upper Darby location.
- You completed all of your coursework for your program before HSB last offered instruction, even though you have not received a diploma or certificate.
- You are completing a comparable educational program at another school
 - by transferring academic hours or credits earned at HSB to another school, or
 - by any other comparable means.

If your new school doesn't count your HSB credits or if you decide not to use your credits towards completion of a comparable program at another school, you may instead apply for a closed school loan discharge of the federal loans you took for your HSB credits.

The loan discharge process

To apply for a closed school loan discharge, you can either:

- Complete the Closed School Loan Discharge Application sent to you by your servicer, or complete the Closed School Loan Discharge Application at StudentAid.gov/closed-school-form, and return it to your loan servicer, or
- Contact your loan servicer for more information before you complete the application.

You must send your Closed School Loan Discharge Application to your federal student loan servicer. To find out who your loan servicer is, log in to your account at StudentAid.gov or call 1-800-4-FED-AID (1-800-433-3243;). A list of federal loan servicer contact information is on page four of this fact sheet.

- Be sure to continue to make payments on your loan while your discharge application is being processed.
 - If you do not meet the criteria for a loan discharge, you will be informed by your loan servicer and will need to continue making payments on your loans based on the terms of your promissory note.

Does your Federal Pell Grant eligibility reset?

The amount of Federal Pell Grant funds you may receive over your lifetime is limited by federal law to be the equivalent of six years of Pell Grant funding. Since the maximum amount of Pell Grant funding you can receive each year is equal to 100 percent, the six-year equivalent is 600%. For more information, visit StudentAid.gov/pell-leu.

If you are eligible for the restoration of Pell Grant eligibility, your restoration will be done automatically; there is nothing for you to do. If your Pell Grant eligibility has been restored for the current award year, and/or you have regained eligibility bringing you under the 600-percent limitation, you will be notified by email.

Can you transfer your credits to another school?

Instead of applying for a closed school loan discharge, you may want to keep the credits you've earned from HSB and transfer those credits to another school with a comparable program. If you do transfer into a comparable program offered by another school, that school will evaluate your HSB transcript, course work, and hours completed in the subjects covered in your course of study, and will decide how much credit to give you for the work you've already completed, as well as identify the coursework you need to complete your program of study. It is up to the new school to decide how much credit to give you.

ED is working with representatives from the state licensing and postsecondary education oversight body to process student records as soon as possible, so that transfer schools can start assessing students for transfer and remaining student aid eligibility.

HSB will be held responsible for the return of any federal student aid funds which were due to students and which HSB received, but had not earned, prior to its cessation of instruction. ED will work with HSB officials to make sure unearned student Federal Pell Grant and loan funds are restored for future eligibility.

Remember, if you transfer the credits you've earned at HSB toward a comparable program at another school and you complete or are in the process of completing that program, you will not be eligible to receive a closed school loan discharge for those credits.
